Your solution for legal compliance and regulatory needs

Emails are essential and losing them can lead to serious business and legal issues. Compliance regulations like GDPR, HIPAA, and SOX mandate keeping electronic records to avoid penalties and reputational damage.

Action recommendations

GFI Archiver offers a secure archive to meet regulatory requirements, making email management easier.

Key features:

- Comprehensive archiving: GFI Archiver stores all emails, attachments, and calendar entries in one place, ensuring that every correspondence is preserved in its original format for future reference.
- Flexible retention policies: Organizations can set how long to keep emails to comply with regulatory requirements.
- Advanced search capabilities: Find archived items quickly using extensive criteria to meet eDiscovery requests and audits deadlines.
- User access control: GFI Archiver allows administrators to manage who can access archived emails to maintain security.

Advance compliance with GFI Archiver AI

GFI Archiver AI enhances the archiving process by leveraging AI-driven insights to streamline compliance management:

- Automate compliance checks: Scan emails for sensitive information, policy violations, and automatically generate compliance reports.
- Proactive risk management: Flag potential issues before they become compliance problems, reducing the risk of costly fines or legal actions.
- User-friendly interface: A chatbot interface guides the setup of compliance rules, making it easy for administrators to configure the system to meet their organization's needs.

GFI Archiver AI in action:

Although GFI Archiver AI doesn't filter emails in real-time, it can detect regulatory violations in archived emails (emails that have already been sent or received). A healthcare organization can use it to check its archives for any inappropriate sharing of patient data. Here's how GFI Archiver AI helps:

- Using the intuitive interface, GFI Archiver AI scans your email archives within your specified date range and automatically:
  - Tags emails containing sensitive medical information
  - Categorizes the severity of potential HIPAA violations and other regulations
  - Creates detailed compliance reports highlighting specific issues.
- Based on these findings, you can take immediate action.
